Welcome Judith Goff

Judith was born and raised in Geneva, New York, in the heart of the Finger Lakes, and has fond memories of her youth there, especially summers in her family's cottage on Seneca Lake, where she learned to swim, waterski, play softball, badminton, and tennis, and otherwise laze away the days with her friends.

At Syracuse University, she majored in philosophy. She noted that these studies taught her a lot about argumentation, a great benefit in her future work as a speechwriter and editor. Upon graduation, she married a faculty member and worked in the University library. In the early 1970s her husband was invited to teach in the University's program abroad in Florence, and they spent two glorious years soaking up the art and history and culture of that city and many other beautiful cities in Italy.

Shortly after they returned to the US, her husband accepted an offer to teach at Swarthmore College, and they lived in that area for several years. During that time, she left library work to become the research editor at the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia, and, after five years, moved on to become the financial writer and executive speechwriter at Arco Chemical company.

Following a divorce in 1990, Judith moved to San Francisco, in part because her family was living here, and in part because she was offered a job as the research editor and executive speechwriter at the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco. She spent the first seven years here living in a condo in Jordan Park, one floor above Carm Arburua. Carm, of course, is how Judith first learned about The Heritage.

She then moved to the Lafayette/Walnut Creek area, where she lived for more than 20 years. Now that she's back in the city, she's delighted to be able to get to classical music concerts, the symphony, the museums, and adult ed classes so much more easily. And she's hoping to find partners for playing tennis and pickleball, a new popular sport described as a cross between ping pong and tennis. Feel free to ask her for details of this fascinating sport. Best of all, she's now much closer to her nieces and nephew and their families, who live in the city and in the North Bay.

Judith is eager to meet residents and explore what The Heritage community has to offer a 'new-comer.' When Judith came as a guest to a Third Floor Perry Social, she quickly started serving others...a hostess at heart. Judith learned more about us than we did about her...a listener by nature.

Judith lives in apartment 412P and can be reached at judith.goff@gmail.com and 925-212-8172.

It Takes a seed, An Idea, and a group of creative women and one believable Santa Claus, to bring the joy of Christmas to many Head Start children. The seed came many years ago in a conversation between Lorraine Baxter, a former resident, and Jeannie Demeio, who works in the Health Center. The two women were talking about ways to make a difference. Jeannie was describing her experience teaching in a school where the families were poor and the effect that had on the children. Voila! Years ago the idea was born and a Heritage Outreach Program was begun. Resident knitters started early each year to knit colorful hats and scarfs for each child in the program. Large red Christmas stockings were stuffed with goodies. Lorraine wrote each name in needlepoint.

Over the years the Head Start Outreach Program has continued. Stela Voyles took over where Lorraine left off, including writing each child's name in needlepoint. This year the knitters are Doris Howard, Erika Coughlan, Jane Standing, Lillemor Leichum, Jan Bolles and Stela Voyles. The shoppers were residents Kay Narron and Barbara Clevenger. Two non-residents who have been long time supporters of the project are Elmer's daughter Sally Barrett and Stela's friend and assistant, Lorena Ramos.

Back by popular demand as Santa is Dave Costello, our former maintenance chief. Irving is ready to suit up as Santa if Dave is playing golf on December 14th when Santa's elves are ready to deliver gifts to the Head Start children.

Many many thanks for the abundant donations to this project. We are well funded for future years and we will carry on!

Stella: "The reward is in seeing the children's faces." Dave Costello: "Being Santa to these children is the best thing I have ever done."

Lloyd and Marion - A Documentary

Lloyd and Marion Wake took up residency at The Heritage on October 9, 1993. They lived in the Cottage for 24 years and were active members of the community. Marion loved sharing the art of creating Ikebana floral arrangements. Lloyd's photographic portraits of residents in natural light were keepers. Lloyd died in December 2017 at age 95. Marion, now 95, keeps moving and reading and smiling. And she has stories to tell.

The documentary Lloyd and Marion tells the story of their young lives, and their experiences in internment camps during WWII. Lloyd and Marion met after their internment ended. Lloyd became a Methodist minister and was a political activist during the 60's while serving at Glide Memorial Church. Marion taught emotionally disturbed children and earned a Master's degree in Marriage and Family Counseling. As a team, Marion and Lloyd conducted educational and counseling sessions. The documentary shows the background history of the lives Lloyd and Marion lived, with archival footage. In interviews, Lloyd and Marion discuss their personal struggles, balancing professional and domestic lives while raising four children.

"I made this documentary to weave the Japanese-American strand into the American story," Amelia Chua, the director and producer of Lloyd & Marion, said. "Lloyd and Marion will challenge Asian-American stereotypes. They speak out, they're funny, they show their emotions and they're on the forefront of social justice work. This is not your typical love story."

WHAT IS HANUKKAH?

The holiday celebrates the Jews defeating Syrian-Greek oppressors who had tried forcing them to abandon their religion and adopt Greek culture. The story has it that, led by Judah Maccabee, they recaptured the holy temple in Jerusalem. Arriving there, they found only enough olive oil to light candles for one night. It lasted for eight nights. The holiday celebrates the defeat of the oppressors and the miracle of the oil lasting eight nights. The oil has led to the holiday being referred to as "The Festival of Lights."

WHY DOES IT START AT SUNDOWN?

In Judaism, it's not only the holidays that start at sundown but every day. In the Book of Genesis, it says that "it was evening and it was morning." So, Jews consider that to mean that the evening comes first and then morning, and that's how the days are marked. It's something that has also taken on the added meaning of: things may seem dark at first, but there will be light and it will get better.

HOW IMPORTANT IS HANUKKAH?

Jews consider it a minor holiday compared to celebrations such as Rosh Hashanah, which marks the new year, and Passover, which commemorates the escape from Egypt.

HANUKKAH OR CHANUKKAH?

Both are acceptable. The difference comes from the fact that the word is actually Hebrew and it can be written in English different ways depending on the translator.

HOW IS IT CELEBRATED?

Every evening at sundown, candles on a menorah (a candleholder with nine branches) is lit. The nine branches are for eight candles representing the eight days the oil lasted and one for a candle used to light the others. There is also a tradition of giving money – gelt – to children so that they can give to charity.

ARE THERE SPECIAL FOODS?

As the holiday celebrates a miracle related to oil, Jews tend to have fried foods at Hanukkah, particularly jelly-filled doughnuts known as sufganiyot and potato pancakes known as latkes. There are also chocolate coins wrapped in foil that represent Hanukkah gelt.

GAMBLING?

Kind of. There is a game associated with Hanukkah that is played with a dreidel, a four-sided top with a different Jewish letter that is an acronym for "great miracle happened there." Every player gets pennies, chocolate coins or something similar. With each spin, depending on what letter the top lands on, the player either gets nothing from the pot, gets half the pot, gets the whole pot, or has to put a coin in the pot.

IS IT LIKE CHRISTMAS?

Not really. The only connections are that both are celebrations and both tend to be in December.

ARE THERE GIFTS?

Now, particularly in the United States, there tends to be, but it is certainly not required. The gift-giving has evolved because of how close Hanukkah is to Christmas.

CHRISTMAS HAS CAROLS, WHAT ABOUT HANUKKAH?

There is actually a grand tradition of Hanukkah music including "I Have a Little Dreidel" and "Hanukkah oh Hanukkah." There are some modern songs such as Adam Sandler's "The Hanukkah Song" and "Light One Candle" by Peter, Paul, and Mary.

WHY ISN'T HANUKKAH THE SAME DAY EVERY YEAR?

It is. It's just that it's the same day every year on the Hebrew calendar, which is a lunar calendar, as opposed to the solar, 365-day calendar in use here.

CAN YOU CELEBRATE HANUKKAH AND CHRISTMAS?

Really, you can do whatever you want. Some say no, because Hanukkah is, in large part, about celebrating people who would have rather died than give up their religion.
